More Than Herbs – Herbalism!

Once you experience OLD INDIAN WILD CHERRY BARK SYRUP you'll always want to have it in your home's herbal supplement cabinet. This delicious syrup combines a cold infusion of wild cherry bark, a decoction of other roots, barks and seeds, and a hot infusion of leaves and flowers. The result: a formulation that preserves the essential oils and concentrated herbal extracts. When you try Planetary Formulas OLD INDIAN WILD CHERRY BARK SYRUP, you'll experience the difference made by the personal touch and traditional care that go into each step of its creation.

Traditional Botanicals for Respiratory Support

The ingredients in OLD INDIAN WILD CHERRY BARK SYRUP reflect the botanical experience of traditional cultures in North America and Asia.

- Soothing wild cherry bark is well-known for respiratory support in winter. It is combined with additional North American classic herbs such as elecampane, horehound, hyssop, and mullein.
- Traditional botanicals from Chinese herbalism include loquat leaf, fritillaria, and platycodon.
- Echinacea, North America's renowned wintertime treasure, is added to support internal defenses.

- No ephedra is used. This makes OLD INDIAN WILD CHERRY BARK SYRUP suitable for the entire family.

Quality Formulation

Most of the herbs in OLD INDIAN WILD CHERRY BARK SYRUP are custom wildcrafted in different parts of North America by experienced herbalists. The syrup is made by a multi-step extraction process, which ensures that the most valuable components of each herb are fully extracted into the syrup base. This extraction process is designed to capture the essence of each botanical.
